CHURCHES FILLED AFTER CAMPAIGN GATHERS SPEED

All Churches Report Gain in Attendance at All Services

CHURCHES PACKED

Sunday School Attendance Is Stretched All City Churches

The church attendance campaign, which has been launched by the Ministerial Alliance, is gaining momentum. Yesterday was the second Sunday of the campaign and a substantial increase in attendance at several of the churches was noted. The First Methodist reported a good increase with almost four hundred in Sunday school. Several additions to the church were also reported. The morning and evening services were attended by full houses.

The First Baptist church also reports two meetings with the auditorium entirely filled each time. The every member canvass was made in the afternoon and resulted in the largest amount of money pledged in the history of the church, by about $50 a week.

The Presbyterian church under the leadership of Rev. E. O. Whitwell housed one of its largest congregations of the year at the morning services. The evening service was also well attended and the seeds of the go-to-church campaign were showing fruit in the church attendance. The Sunday school in the morning was attended by an increase of a number of bible students.

The First Christian church swelled its attendance by a heavy margin at both services. The morning service was especially well attended with the building being packed to overflow by church goers. While the evening service was not as large as the morning, the building was filled to hear Rev. H. W. Wallace's sermon. The increase in Sunday school attendance was one of the notable results of the go-to-church movement.

Reports from other sources indicated that other churches throughout the city enjoyed the prosperity of increased attendance as a result of the campaign with a goal to bring every citizen available into the church on Sunday.

Methodist Brotherhood Dinner. The Methodist Brotherhood will enjoy a dinner at the church this evening, beginning at 7 o'clock. Rev. Whitmore Kendall, pastor of the Hagler Memorial church at Tulsa, will speak to the men. Rev. Kendall is said to be one of the most brilliant speakers in the state, with a burning message for mankind.

Under the leadership of Rev. R. T. Blackburn, the Methodist congregation is taking on new life and doing things in a much bigger way than ever before, members of the congregation explain. The men's organization is working with definite plans and with a definite end in view.

Every Sunday since the first of September has seen from one to eight new additions to the church. The attendance is increasing in both Sunday school and church.

Baptist Canvass Success. The Annual Every Member Canvass put on by the members of the First Baptist church here Sunday, was a great success, according to Mr. L. A. Ellison, who had charge of the campaign. The local church has a budget of seven thousand dollars for current expenses and this amount is raised in pledges from the members each year. "The success of the campaign this year," says Mr. Ellison, "only proves the loyalty and devotion of the membership to the church. We received the largest amount in subscriptions that we have ever received and the outlook was never better for a great year's work than now." Large congregations greeted the pastor at both services Sunday.

SECOND POISON PLOT BARED IN CONFESSION

(By the Associated Press) MARION, Ill., Sept. 29.—Authorities of Williamson county today were searching for a man thought to have purchased the poison which caused the death of J. L. Herrington, a coal miner in a poison plot in which Tate and Herrington's former wife Ruby Herrington Tate have confessed their participation that they might marry.

In a confession late yesterday in a jail here in the presence of Sheriff George Galligan and other prosecuting officials, Robert Tate with his bride of 7 days sitting by his side made a full confession that he gave Kerrington the first dose of poison. His confession came only after a long grilling during which his wife confessed and implicated Tate pleaded with him to tell the whole story.

The double confession disclosed the second of two love poison plots in this section of Illinois within the last ten days. A week ago L. M. Hight of Ida, former Methodist Episcopal minister, and Mrs. Elsie Sweetland confessed they had conspired to poison their mates so that they might marry.

CANADIAN BRIDGE VISITED BY MANY

Ada Motorists Dedicate Opening of New Bridge Over Canadian

Hundreds of Ada citizens went out to the new bridge Sunday and viewed the structure. While cars could cross, some work remains to be done on the south approach in order to be in the best of condition. County Commissioner H. Clay Stephens went out today, however, to see that the work is done right and pushed to completion.

The celebration for October 10th is being planned now. It is expected that Governor Trapp, the members of the highway commission, Federal Judge Robert L. Williams, Judge Kennamer, Hon. Tom Anglin, Hon. Joe Looney, Hon. Tom D. McKeown and other notables will be present, if the plans all mature. All these have been invited and will be asked to take part in the program.

The committee of the Chamber of Commerce, appointed to make arrangements for the day, is busy on the plans. Barbecue, buns and coffee will be furnished. Kenawa has accepted the invitation to join Ada, and several beavers will be brought down from the little city north of the river.

The civic clubs of the city will assist the Chamber of Commerce in putting the matter over in a big way. Secretary J. C. Treadwell is busy mailing out publicity matter and invitations to other cities and individuals throughout the state to be present.

HUNDREDS ARE KILLED IN CHINESE CIVIL WAR

(By the Associated Press) SHANGHAI, Sept. 29.—Hundreds of Chinese soldiers were killed and many others wounded this morning on a six mile front from Nansiang to Malu when armies of rival military governors fighting for position of Shanghai continued hostilities with renewed intensity.

According to a witness who returned this afternoon from traversing the sector from Nansiang to Malu went of Shanghai both sides were drenching each other with shrapnel.

Numerous relief stations behind the front were filled with wounded soldiers while scores of others were on stretchers. The dead have been left where they fell according to the witness, and as a result a carrion odor extends over the whole battle area.

More wounded reached Shanghai today than on any one day since the fighting started. All hospitals are overflowing and it is reported that measures have been taken to exclude any more of the wounded from the foreign settlement whose facilities are exhausted.

Foreign physicians are personally visiting and holding rooms in hospitals for the accommodation of their own patients, which otherwise would be taken up by wounded Chinese.

Spurred to action by representatives from the international settlement, it is understood the Chekiang leaders are planning an emergency camp to provide for the steadily increasing number of wounded.

MA WINS INITIAL STEP IN ACTION

Calhoun Holds for Woman in All Questions Brought To Court

(By the Associated Press) AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 29.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson today won the first step in the court fight to have her disqualified as Democratic nominee for governor of Texas. An injunction to keep her name off the ballot was refused by Judge George C. Calhoun in the Fifty-third district court.

The court held that Mrs. Ferguson is qualified in every way to hold office and that the so-called common law disability against women in office does not apply.

He held with Mrs. Ferguson on all points. He said first that the plaintiff had power to bring the suit under the statutes and that the court had jurisdiction, but on all other questions Mrs. Ferguson won.

The common law principles on which the plaintiff, Charles Dickson of San Antonio relied were said to be obsolete in this country and he could not find an inhibition either in the Texas constitution or statutes of the state which denies a woman the right to hold office.

STATE OF TEXAS UNDER QUARANTINE

Whitehurst Extends Order to Include Entire Lone Star State

(By the Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—A quarantine against Texas livestock ordered Saturday by John A. Whitehurst, president of the Oklahoma State Board of Agriculture following an outbreak of the foot and mouth disease near Houston, Texas, today was extended to include all parts of Texas. The original quarantine did not cover the portion of the state near the Oklahoma border.

Whitehurst, who is in Fort Worth, telegraphed instructions to his office here. He ordered the state livestock inspectors to go to Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Amarillo where they are to demand copies of all bills of lading on northbound cattle shipments.

He also asked an opinion from the attorney general's department as to whether the state cotton inspectors force can be sent to the border to assist in enforcing the livestock embargo. Whitehurst telegraphed that no shipments of hides, furs or other animal products would be allowed to cross the state line into Oklahoma.

The board president indicated that if the attorney general holds that others not livestock inspectors can be used, virtually the whole personnel of the department of agriculture will be employed to keep the disease out of Oklahoma.

DERANGED WOMAN WIPES OUT FAMILY

Mother Slashes Children to Death Before Taking Own Life

(By the Associated Press) MANGUM, Okla., Sept. 29.—The hallucinations that a star in the evening sky was a light on an airplane in which hovered an enemy with murderous designs on her family caused Mrs. J. A. Melton, wife of a farmer living five miles southeast of here, to slash the throats of her four children with a razor and then take her own life, in opinion of her husband the sole survivor of the family and county authorities who said today a coroner's inquest would not be necessary.

Melton returned home late Saturday from Mangum where he had taken a shot gun for safe keeping he said, to find the mutilated bodies of his entire family lined up in a neat row on the floor in one room, a razor in Mrs. Melton's hand authorities said.

Romaine, 11, the oldest child apparently had made a desperate struggle for life as her hands and arms also were slashed.

Robert 6, Dewey 4, and Estell 18 months old, were the other children killed. The mother was at the head of the row with Romaine next and the others in order according to their age.

Mrs. Melton had been deranged since the birth of her last child and had been treated for mental disorders, the husband said. A quintuple funeral for the victims was to be held at Mangum, Oklahoma, today.

The board president indicated that if the attorney general holds that others not livestock inspectors can be used, virtually the whole personnel of the department of agriculture will be employed to keep the disease out of Oklahoma.

GOLDEN JUBILEE DAY IS OBSERVED BY CHRISTIANS

Sunday was Golden Jubilee Day at the First Christian church this being the fiftieth year of the organization of the Woman's Missionary Society of the church.

The day was given over to the Woman's Missionary Society of the church here and at the morning service Dr. H. W. Wallace delivered a sermon appropriate to the occasion using as his text Rev. 22:1-2. He divided this passage into three main propositions interpreting the "river of water of life" to mean the work of the Holy Spirit, the "tree of life" as Jesus Christ and "the leaves of the tree" the gospel of Jesus Christ. He said that this is the heroic age of the church but the heroism of the church at home in giving was not in keeping with the heroism of the missionaries on the foreign field in giving their lives for the cause.

At the evening service the High School Endeavor Society under the direction of Prof. George L. Daugherty gave a Missionary Pageant that was both entertaining and instructive. The offering was generous and will enable the women to pay their pledge to the One Million Dollar Golden Jubilee Fund.

MAN CONFESSES MURDER OF HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW

(By the Associated Press) CINCINNATI, Sept. 29.—Rain soaked and with disheveled clothes and bearing the marks of 60 hours out of doors, Vinton Ferrin, 50, surrendered himself today to answer for the slaying of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Frances D. Rawson, 77, and for the shooting of his sister-in-law, Miss Nina Rawson.

Alternately sobbing, jesting and pacing the floor at detective headquarters Perin related to Chief of Detectives a story of 20 years of alleged persecution by his mother-in-law in extenuation of his killing her at the Rawson house last Friday night. She opposed his marriage to her daughter Deborah, he said, and since the wedding had done everything she could to humiliate him.

Perin readily admitted the shooting but showed an aversion to talking of the actual killing itself.

KIWANIANS HEAR VISITORS BOOST ROADS CAMPAIGN

New Court House Mentioned As Need of City in Progress Move

TULSA VISITOR TALKS

Good Roads as Stepping Stone To Prosperity Pointed Out by Speaker

Kiwanians heard the boom for good roads and a court house fired in short talks of several visitors of the club at its noonday luncheon today at the Episcopal parish house.

Talks by W. D. Little, J. W. Bolen and J. F. McKee, visitors at the banquet pointed out the importance of good roads to a community. Mr. Little explained that the economic conditions of the country demanded an adequate means of transportation and that autos and trucks were fast coming to play a tremendous part in industry and commerce. He stated his belief that the need of hard surfaced roads to be one of the crying needs of Ada and Pontotoc county.

Mr. Little announced the celebration for the official opening of the Canadian bridge Oct. 10 and invited the Kiwanians to assist in making the events one of importance. District Judge J. W. Bolen voiced his sentiment that the county is in dire need of a new court house, pointing out that the city is receiving unfavorable comment over the state from lawyers and others because of its court facilities. The jurist cited that the record of deeds and property rights were inadequately protected against loss by fire and that the entire property holdings of owners in Ada is in jeopardy because of inadequate protections of its property records. Bolen also stressed the need of more and better roads as a necessity to social and economic betterment, stating that every walk of life demanded better means of transportation in this modern age.

J. F. McKee spoke for a few minutes on the need of better roads and a new court house. He stated that he had recently visited at Brownsville, Texas, and that he was able to motor to that place on hard surfaced roads with the exception of the stretch between Ada and Tishomingo.

In the addresses of these speakers, the importance of a concerted effort on the part of civic organizations in getting behind these movements was stressed.

Wilmore Kendall Speaker. The club and its guests were rewarded by a short talk by Rev. Wilmore Kendall of Tulsa, a guest of Rev. R. T. Blackburn, in his remarks concerning the importance of good roads. He reiterated the importance of better means of transportation from social and economic standpoints and added the importance of hard surface roads in reviving the rural church, which he declared to be in a declining state at the present time. He stressed the point that good roads would bring the communities in closer touch and would make possible a greater religious revival in the rural communities.

Reverend Kendall, who is blind, lauded the spirit that had brought Ada from a small village of his early acquaintance to one of the most progressive cities in the state. He congratulated the club and the city on its progressive, forward inclinations in the interest of a better city. Reverend Kendall will be a speaker at two other occasions here today and tonight. He speaks at a banquet at the Methodist church tonight and a meeting this afternoon.

The club also heard remarks from its other guests, Rev. C. C. Morris, Rev. Charles L. Widney and H. P. Suggs.

Jack Moore, assisted by his sister, Miss Violet Moore, treated the Kiwanians and their guests with two renditions, a cornet solo by Jack, assisted by his sister.

The attendance prize presented by the Corner Drug Co., won last Monday by J. E. Garrett was officially presented at today's meeting. Dr. Wilson H. Lane won the attendance prize at today's luncheon.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THY SUN shall no more go down; neither shall thy moon withdraw itself; for the Lord shall be everlasting light, and the days of thy mourning shall be ended.—Isaiah 60:20.

Being settled largely by people who grew up in Republican strongholds, it was not surprising that most of the states in the West and Northwest remained Republican for a long time. The people were slow to grasp the idea that through the operations of the Republican high tariff they were bearing more than their just share of the cost of government in order that the manufacturing industries of the East might be enriched. Another generation that feels no tie of kinship with the East has grown up and is showing its independence. Its members have decided that they can do their own thinking without consulting Senator Lodge and his kind and their states no longer belong to the Republican party by right of discovery. This makes these states very uncertain, a fact that is causing no little uneasiness among the leaders of the old guard who from time immemorial considered themselves the real Republican party. Times have changed since Tom Reed cracked the whip in the house and henceforth the Republicans will have to fight for the West as hard as they must for the doubtful states which have hitherto held the balance of power between the rock ribbed Republican states of the North and East and the solid Democratic South. The West will consider its own interest rather than those of the New England oligarchy of which Tom Reed, James G. Blaine and Senators Aldrich and Hale were outstanding representatives.

Nine years ago today the first trans-continental telephone line was opened and it became possible for New York and San Francisco to converse. New inventions had overcome obstacles that had hitherto limited the range of telephone communication and it was considered a great achievement when the first conversation was held between persons on opposite sides of the continent. In the spring of that year the Bell company by way of a demonstration of its advancement, had arranged for editors attending the state association at Guthrie to converse with Judge Jesse Dunn in California. Communication was perfect and the conversation was carried on for several minutes. A number of receiving sets had been installed so that several of us could listen in and all had an opportunity to hear one of the first conversations carried on between Oklahoma and California. None dreamed that in a short span of years we could hear radio speeches and programs from points even more distant than that wire extended.

The Republicans have always contended that their party had most of the brains of the country, hence could run the government much better than the Democrats. They have for a quarter of a century, at least, asserted that only the Republican party could keep the country prosperous. However, this year they will have a hard time in putting this claim over. The people will want to know how it is that of the G. O. P. is a maker of prosperity why such a period of depression struck the country while the party was in power and why even until now business failures are numerous all over the country with liabilities large. More bank failures have taken place during the past three years than in any similar period in the nation's history and yet the Republicans were in full control of the national government.

The opening of the Canadian bridge is a very important matter for Ada. Locally it means much closer communication with points north of the river and in view of the oil field on the other side will be an important connecting link. The river has always been a barrier that meant a great deal of inconvenience and uncertainty. Not only that but with bridges at other points east and west, Ada was left off of any important highway north and south and a great deal of tourist traffic has gone elsewhere. The bridge marks the dawning of a day long wished for by people on both sides of the river.

The fight that Dawes and other Republicans are making on La Follette indicates that they fear he will carry a sufficient number of states that usually go Republican to make the election of Davis certain. There is some ground for the fear for all that La Follette is likely to carry will leave that many less of the doubtful states that Davis must carry in order to be elected. La Follette will not split the Republican forces enough to make Democratic victory certain, as was the case with Roosevelt, but it will undoubtedly prove a great help to Davis.

Judging from the amount of advertising in the Monroe paper he is making a record.

THOU TOO, BRUTUS!

OLDEST SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING IN UNITED STATES TO OBSERVE CENTENNIAL OF ITS FOUNDING

TROY, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The centennial celebration of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Oct. 2, 3 and 4, will bring to this oldest of American institutions devoted to science and engineering one of the greatest gatherings of men of science ever assembled in this country. They will include about 70 presidents of the leading institutions of learning and scientific societies of the world and will represent countries of the five continents and Australia.

Distinguished leaders in the realm of education and science will deliver addresses at convocations which will follow impressive academic processions on Friday, Oct. 3, and Saturday, Oct. 4. On the program Friday will be:

Sir Charles Langbridge Morgan, President of the Institute of Civil Engineers of Great Britain; Henri Abraham, laureate of the French Academy of Sciences and President of the Society of Electrical Engineers of France; Luigi Lulsi, professor of the University of Rome and president of the Society of Civil Engineers of Italy; Arthur S. Dyer, director of Ecole Polytechnique of Montreal and president of the Engineering Institute of Canada; United States secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover; Frank Pierpont Graves, New York Commissioner of Education, and Dr. Palmer Chamberlaine Ricketts, president of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

The speakers Saturday morning will be Albert Abraham Michaelson, president of the National Academy of Sciences; Carl Ewald Grunsky, president of the American Society of Civil Engineers; Frederic Rollins Low, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; William Kellogg, president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers; Farley Osgood, president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers; President James Rowland Angell of Yale University; President Edward Asahel Birge of the University of Wisconsin, and President Samuel Wesley Stratton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

At the Centennial dinner Friday night in the Troy Armory the speakers will include Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell University; Huger Wilkinson Jervey, dean of Columbia Law School, and Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Odell, director of the Service Citizens of Delaware.

During the celebration two tablets will be unveiled, one in memory of S. Wells Williams, class of 1832, first professor of Chinese and oriental history at Yale University, and the other to mark the site of the old main building of the institute. At the first unveiling the address will be delivered by Sacke Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to the United States. Mrs. Elizabeth Van Rensselaer Frazer of Washington, a lineal descendant of the founder of R. P. I., will unveil the second tablet and the address will be made by Seymour Van Stantvoord, former chairman of the New York State Public Service commission. Each evening on the campus there will be a pageant illustrating the development of the institute and the history of science and engineering.

The Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute was founded in 1824 by Stephen Van Rensselaer as "a school for the application of science to the common purposes of life." Under Dr. Samuel Blodgett it became a polytechnic in 1849. The evolution of the curriculum of the institute has marked the development of scientific education in the colleges of America. Its graduates became the pioneer American chemists, engineers and men of education to other institutions. They established the first geological survey and the first agricultural college and played an almost exclusive part in the early development of railroads and canals, not only in the United States but in China, Japan, Mexico and various countries of South America.

Among the better known achievements of Rensselaer graduates are the Brooklyn and Williamsburg bridges, the Ferris Wheel of the Chicago World's Fair, Mormon Temple at Salt Lake City, the Woolworth Building, the New York subway, the Imperial Government railway of Japan, many important commercial plants and larger hotels in the United States.

Since the destruction by fire of the old main building in 1904 there has been provided at an expenditure of several millions of dollars an entirely new physical equipment, which includes a dozen co-ordinate buildings and about half of a million dollars worth of laboratories. Generous gifts to the institute have been made by the late Mrs. Russell Sage, Andrew Carnegie, sectional alumni associations and various classes of their annuaries.

Courses at the institute lead to the degrees of civil engineer, bachelor of science, mechanical, electrical and chemical engineer and graduate courses leading to masters' degrees.

A gift of the Roeblings enabled the institute to establish the radio broadcasting station WHAZ, which holds the long distance record of 10,000 miles to New Zealand and Australia.

SHENANDOAH HAS PORT IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST

(By the Associated Press)

TACOMA, WASH., Sept. 29.—The Pacific Northwest "port" for the Shenandoah, and any other heavier-than-air craft the navy or army may send to this section, is ready on the Camp Lewis military reservation about 10 miles south of this city.

The port consists of a mooring mast 180 feet high, together with the necessary machinery to handle a dirigible and to supply it with helium gas and fuel. It is expected that the Shenandoah will be on Puget Sound in October.

The great mooring mast is situated on a prairie which affords plenty of room to maneuver the largest dirigibles. The mast itself is a great tube of steel, firmly imbedded in the earth and held in place by cables anchored in concrete blocks. Twenty surge lines, also anchored in concrete and handled by gasoline engines, will hold any dirigible that is tied to the mast. On top of the mast is a large swivel to which the dirigible is connected and which can be moved about according to the direction of the wind. The top, 180 feet high, is covered with a battery of floodlights which will illuminate the field for a mile in every direction. Running up alongside the mast proper are three large pipes. These will carry gas, water and gasoline to the airship.

Cotton Seed Oil and Its By-Products

The uses of cottonseed oil and the by-products of its manufacture are so many and varied as almost to defy enumeration. How to approach the problems of production and utilization involves, among other important factors, the subject of power.

Central station service goes far toward providing the ideal power for the cottonseed mill. Regardless of which process of extraction you may be using, you will benefit by equipping your machinery to operate with electric motors.

Once installed, electric power is instantly available, and so reliable that you are relieved of all responsibility concerning your power requirements. It reduces the hazard of fire in a business where constant watchfulness against that danger is essential.

Considering the question of power costs, we believe we can show you how to save money by "scrapping" your own power plant and using electric service throughout the mill. Our power specialists will be glad to study your requirements and submit recommendations for electrification.

Laemmle's "Hunchback" Film Epic. In producing "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," Carl Laemmle believed it would be, like the book, a work of creative art with the permanence of the ancient Cathedral itself and a picture for all days to come. He expected Victor Hugo's immortal classic to be the crowning achievement of the screen and in every way his anticipations have been realized.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" is a cinematographic masterpiece in the truest sense of the word. The sets, which include representations of the Cathedral of Notre Dame, the Court of Miracles, Place de Paris, the Palais de Justice, the Bastille, and many streets of Paris of Louis XI, are gems of mingled beauty, magnificence, quaintness, and are above all genuine replicas of a historic city whose greatness is thus conveyed forever on the silver sheet—the new art of the present and of the future.

The screening of such an intricate story as this was a huge undertaking, especially when a physical production perfect to the last detail is in question. For so great a motion picture the industry and the public should be eternally grateful to Carl Laemmle. This production is now showing at the American theatre.

Missionary in New England But Knows West—Is Rev. Carden

The Rev. Joseph Carden, who begins a two weeks preaching mission at the Episcopal church on October 6, was born in New England, but has had a ministry in four states in widely different sections of the country. He received his college training at Hobart College and his bachelor of divinity degree from the famous Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge, Massachusetts, where he was a classmate of the Rt. Rev. Theodore Payne Thurston, Episcopal Bishop of Oklahoma.

Rev. Carden was ordained by the late Phillips Brooks, one of the greatest preachers of the 19th century. After serving two churches in Massachusetts and having held the chaplaincy of the 5th Regiment of the Massachusetts Volunteer militia for two years, he removed to Wisconsin, thence to Texas, preaching at Brazoria, Matagorda Bastrop and Rockdale, successively.

Before accepting a call to his present charge at Ardmore, he was for one year arch-deacon of central Oklahoma. He is considered one of the strongest of the Episcopal clergy in Oklahoma and has gained a reputation for forceful preaching. The local congregation consider themselves fortunate in securing his services.

Ada Twirlers Mix in Duel in Coast League

Further proof that the city of Ada is deriving gobs of publicity through the feats on the diamond of Lefty Williams and Paul Waner is contained in a clipping sent here from a Los Angeles paper.

In the sport story which mentions Ada as a production house for baseball players, Jimmie Christian, a twirler who formerly lived in this vicinity and playing with the Vernon club of the Pacific coast league.

Following is the sport comment: Two boys who knew Ada pitched a whale of a ball game today at Washington Park. The Vernon Tigers whipped the San Francisco Seals, 2 to 0, and one of the boys that knew Ada, unquestionably got the best of the other guy. One guy won and one lost.

In case readers of stories about the Seals and Tigers think Ada is a gal, they must be disillusioned right here. Ada is not a gal. She is a town in Oklahoma. Jimmy Christian, a curve-ball pitcher, and Guy (Lefty) Williams, a southpaw flyer, worked on the slab today and they both were born and reared in the vicinity of Ada. Ada is proud of them, even if she is not a gal.

Paul Waner, who plays rightfield for the San Francisco Seals, also is from that vicinity. He had heard about Williams southpawing people dizzy around the old home town, and naturally advised the Seal owners to get Williams. He surely did not figure to tell the Tigers about him.

DOC COOK'S WIFE GETS POSITION IN CAFETERIA

FORT WORTH. — (Special). — Apparently substantiating the poverty claim of her exploring husband, Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer and mountain climber, Mrs. Marie Cook, his divorced wife, who rallied to his aid during the recent oil fraud trial here, has taken a position as cashier in a cafeteria. She announced that to send her two daughters through a fashionable Eastern school it was necessary that she go to work. Dr. Cook has been in the county jail here for a year. His repeated attempt at securing an appeal bond have proved futile. He was sentenced to fourteen years in prison—found guilty of engineering a million-dollar oil swindle.

College Notes

Senator J. C. Looney of Konawa will speak in Assembly at the college Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Linscheid has just returned from a meeting of the state board of education at Oklahoma City, where he says only routine matters were taken up. The Board of Education expressed themselves highly satisfied with the growth of East Central.

Arrangements are about complete for a lyceum at the college this year. The numbers will be Kathryn Browne who is a Mezzo soprano of Chicago Grand Opera, Carolyn Thomas, violinist, Cecil Fanning, baritone, and Marie Tiffany, soprano from the Metropolitan Opera company. A Junior-Senior play by the students of the college and a play by the sophomore students making a total of six numbers.

The numbers will be given at the Convention Hall and season tickets will be sold for $2.00 each.

The four musical numbers are high grade attractions which usually bring $1.00 each.

The plays will be staged under the direction of Miss Shauliss of the College.

ENROLMENT AT OKLAHOMA UNIVERSITY AT ECLIPSE

NORMAN, Sept. 29.—(Special). — With the enrollment of 3550 students, more than 400 over last year's total at this time, officials of the University of Oklahoma are using extreme measures to care for the students, according to Dr. Roy Gittinger, registrar. Every available room on the campus is being used for teaching space, and several classes are being conducted in rented rooms off the campus. Lockers are being torn out of the old gymnasium and the dressing rooms are being converted into classrooms.

Features entering into the increased enrollment are: a larger freshman class, more than the average number of the 1923 freshmen class returning to school, and the enrollment of approximately 400 students with advanced standing, a gain of ten per cent over this class of students last year.

Reporting on the acute situation, a faculty building committee after a survey of conditions, announced: "Judged in floor space per student the University of Oklahoma at the present time has only about one fifth enough room for its student body. The university now has only one fourth the floor space per student that it had in 1912."

Under the present situation classes are being held on Saturdays, late in the afternoons and at night.

REX INGRAM "SHOOT" BIG BEDOUIN CARAVAN IN "THE ARAB" CLIMAX

Rex Ingram's newest picture of Metro, "The Arab", a screen version of Edgar Selwyn's play, ends with a band of Bedouins breaking camp and marching away. The scene was one of those taken at the oasis of Gabes in Northern Africa. Mr. Ingram declares it was the most thrilling sequence he ever directed because it was real.

Ramon Navarro on a white charger led the caravan, the Bedouins riding silently five abreast, followed by the endless train of camels, donkeys, goats, winding their way back to the hills, to the Sahara out of which they actually came. As Alice Terry bid good bye to the children and presented her hand and pressed it to their foreheads and wept quite unashamedly; while the boys saluted in the manner of their race, by touching the breast, the lips, and the forehead. "The Arab" is coming to the McSwain theatre today.

Progress Levels Many Famous Buildings Near Charing Cross

LONDON.—The changes of time and the steady blows of the pickaxe have sent another London landmark to destruction in a cloud of dust. This was the building at 34 Cockspur street which for generations housed the establishment of a famous London clockmaker.

Affixed to the front of this building was a great white-faced clock surmounted by a time-ball, and very old Londoners recall that riding to the War Office of a morning from his home would draw rein to correct his timepiece by the one which hung out high over the street. And now the old clock with its time-ball, which became a landmark to Londoners of a succeeding generation who, on foot or on buses, could view it from the far side of Trafalgar Square, has disappeared with the demolition of the building of which it was so long apart.

The passage of time has brought strange changes to this part of London which became known as Charing Cross after King Edward I erected a Gothic cross there to mark the spot where his Queen's coffin rested in the thirteenth century, when the royal funeral procession halted on its way to Westminster Abbey.

Why Cockspur Street came to be so named no antiquary appears to be able to say for certain. Conjecture has it that it was because of a fancied connection with the mews adjoining the celebrated "Cock Tavern" where Samuel Pepys, who described it in his diary as "a great ordinary mightily cried up," dined Mrs. Turner, Betty and Talbot Pepys, Sir Dennis Gauden, and Gosson, and they were "mighty merry, this house being famous for meat and particularly pease-porridge."

In later days Tobias Smollett was in the habit of frequenting "a small tavern in the corner of Cockspur St." called the Golden Ball "where we had a frugal supper and a little punch, as the finances of none of the company were in very good order."

ADA VETS URGED TO AID PROGRAM

Statue of "American Doughboy" Sought for Muskogee Hospital

Members of the Norman Howard post have been urged to assist in a program that will furnish the veterans hospital at Muskogee with an appropriate statue of the "American Doughboy."

Hugh Scott, director of the hospital at Muskogee, announced that the Henryetta post had been active in securing the statue but a base of Oklahoma granite is needed before the statue can adorn the grounds at the hospital.

Following is an explanatory letter from Scott:

Comrades:

For a year and a half I have worked unceasingly, organizing the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital, (U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 99) at Muskogee, Oklahoma. This hospital now has the highest rating of any hospital in the service. We have a complete hospital plant in every way and have recently completed a new recreation building. The Auxiliary has purchased an electric piano, such as is used in moving picture theaters, at an expense of $1350 and the sick and disabled comrades are enjoying the recreation building to the fullest extent. We have about completed our landscaping and planting. We now want, for a conspicuous place immediately in front of the main building, facing the east the statue known as the "American Doughboy."

The ex-service organizations at Henryetta, Oklahoma, have recently installed one of these statues. It was delivered F. O. B. Henryetta for $1250. If the Legion donates this statue, we will need a pedestal made of Oklahoma granite and a proper bronze tablet mounted on the pedestal. I have an estimate that, if we can raise $2000, we can install this wonderful piece of statuary complete. If each member of the American Legion of Oklahoma will donate 7 1-2 cents per member we can accomplish this very desirable purpose, therefore, I am appealing to the American Legion posts of Oklahoma to raise the funds to purchase and install this appropriate statue. If the membership of the Legion could see the commanding position where we propose to erect it, I know that the funds would be forthcoming at once. If you approve this plan, send your donations in and at the proper time all you donate will be accounted for. We have an out-post at this hospital with a membership of 225 that will take charge of all of the details.

Respectfully,
HUGH SCOTT,
Medical Officer in Charge.

NEGROES PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO ROLLING DICE; TREAT

Five residents of darktown rendered a vehement plea of not guilty on a charge of gaming.

Arrested during the week-end for indulging in a salting domino game, they denied knowledge of the term of gambling this morning and demanded a trial. The trial was scheduled for 4 o'clock this afternoon.

In addition to the quintet of alleged gamblers, four others have paid fines today on charges of drunkenness.

OKLAHOMA CITY MAN STATES BEER CAMPAIGN IN STATE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—I. R. Clark of Oklahoma City, president of a bridge company, announced today he would be a candidate for governor in 1926 on a light wine and beer platform. His announcement was contained in an open letter to the Ku Klux Klan in which he made known his retirement from the order. He declared the Klan had used poor judgment in selecting candidates for political office in Oklahoma.

DALLAS FAIR NOT CALLED OFF BY DISEASE RAMPAGE

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 29.—The Texas state fair at Dallas has not been called off and there is no reason why the fair should not be as large as ever. Chairman J. E. Did You Ever Stop to Think?

(By E. R. WAITE, Secretary Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.)

That some people think all a man in business has to do is sit around and rake in the profit. That most of them have to do a whole lot of business before they have any profits.

That many of them make no profits, they make losses.

That some of them are quite busy making both ends meet.

That some of them who do make profits only make a bare living.

That most of them contribute a big part of such profits they make to their city.

That a man in business has no soft snap.

That his road is hard and rough.

That he doesn't work by the clock, he just works all the while.

That being in business deprives a man of the hours and pleasures that a man has who has a job.

That a man with a job has his time and labor invested.

That if he can't make his business pay he loses his time, labor and money and has to start life over again.

It is easier to make a living working for someone else than it is for yourself.

BERLIN—There have been so many accidents in Berlin within the last few months caused by women stepping off street cars backward, that officials of the car line have offered a prize for the best solution of the problem.

They are considering many suggestions, including one from a conductor that a mirror be installed near the car step, so placed that alighting passengers, to see their reflection, would be compelled to face forward. Vanity would do the rest.

BANKING, MERCHANDISING AND OTHER BUSINESS GETS BOOM FROM AGRICULTURAL RECEIPTS

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—Banking, merchandising and other business activities throughout the seven states comprising the Tenth federal reserve district have been favorably affected by the betterment of the financial situation of the agricultural population, according to the monthly business and agricultural review of the Federal reserve bank of Kansas City, made public today.

The improvement has come thru production of large crops of wheat, corn, oats, hay, cotton, fruit and other products, says the review.

"There has been a very perceptible improvement during the past 60 days," the review continues. "Though the improvement has not been such as to bring out what is commonly regarded as a 'boom'."

"Wheat farmers of the district marketed about one-fourth to one-third of their 300,000,000 bushel wheat crop during July and August at 20 cents to 25 cents per bushel above prices prevailing in July and August last year. Their first thought was to rid themselves of debt and postponing purchases of goods other than necessities, a considerable portion of the proceeds from wheat and other products marketed has been used to meet the more pressing demands for funds."

"Thus while the statistical reports converting the volume of trade available at this time, show but a slight upward trend, as compared with previous months this year and corresponding months last year, it is noted that the newly created wealth, and that to come with later marketings, has brought about a spirit of confidence everywhere in the district, and with a feeling that business is being re-established on a sounder and more stable basis than at any time since the beginning of the World war."

"County merchants are placing orders for goods in anticipation of a larger fall and winter business and manufacturers are increasing their output to meet expected demands. Implement and farm machinery dealers are doing heavier business than a year ago and their collections are far beyond anticipation."

"Reports from other industries of the district generally are encouraging. Lead and zinc ore shipments during August were the largest of the year, and the value of the lead shipped was more than 100 per cent above last year. Crude oil production in August was the largest of any month on record for the four producing states of this district and 26 per cent above the output of August, last year. Colorado's precious metal mining is running heavier than for many years. Coal mining, which has been depressed throughout the season by lack of market demand for the output, increased slightly during August to about 40 per cent of operating capacity and somewhat behind last year's showing. Salt mining has been running behind last year but now is showing an upward trend with a brighter outlook for the future."

"With receipts of wheat at the primary markets in the district virtually double the receipts of last year, August flour production also exceeded last year's production by nearly seven percent. Meat packing was seasonally heavy."

"Building operations during August assumed unexpected activity. The money value of new buildings authorized was the largest for any month of the year, and 49.6 per cent above last year."

"While long needed relief has come to agriculture, it is observed that adjustment of the livestock industry has been slow. There is still a considerable volume of unliquidated cattle loans though with an abundance of money available many holders of cattle paper are inclined to give borrowers an opportunity to market stock at an auspicious time and supply the expense money to carry over the herds another year. While all authorities agree that there has been a reduction of range cattle in the district since the war, the market supply of cattle was above normal during August and the receipts early in September were such as to establish new high records."

"The sheep industry is in better condition than for a long time. With prices of wool and wool at high levels farmers throughout the district are stocking their flocks with small flecks."

"The hog situation appears somewhat unsatisfactory and there is an element of uncertainty in the outlook. While there has been a large reduction of the pig crop, there has also been heavy marketings of light sows with possible danger of over-liquidation of breeding stock."

"Electricity to coax Alaskan HENS TO LAY DURING NIGHT"

ANCHORAGE, Alaska.—The domestic hen in the interior of Alaska, accustomed to take a lay-off during the six months of night, in winter, will have to do her steady shift at producing eggs, from all indications. Electricity has come to the aid of the Alaska poultry farmer. By the aid of light and heated quarters hens are being made to lay at a time when in the past the egg supply hardly has paid for feed.

Dairymen are constructing a type of chicken house with a basement in which a large air-tight heater is located. The coop is wired with electricity, so that it may be lighted during the "daylight" hours.

BUSINESS SETTLES TO BETTER RATE IN STATE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 29.—Gradually business in Oklahoma is becoming more stable, market conditions are better and bankers, merchants and farmers are more optimistic of the future, according to O. B. Motherhead, state bank commissioner.

State bankers report farmers are wiping out old indebtedness with money from this year's crops receipts. However, the full effect of this year, one of the most successful in the state's history, will not be felt until next year, when a considerable portion of the cotton and wheat crops are marketed, the bank commissioner said. Motherhead is interested in farms and industrial concerns and is president of one of the leading department stores of Hobart.

The retail merchandizing market still is somewhat shaky but it is far less nervous than several months ago, he declared. Motherhead predicts a normal mercantile market by Christmas, and spring should see a condition above normal.

Call money is much cheaper in Oklahoma, due in part to a lesser demand, but chiefly because of the liquidation of so much agricultural indebtedness. Merchants report buyers continue to keep their purchases reduced, but an improvement in buying has taken place during the past month, state bankers informed the commissioner. Collections are much better, they added, declaring debts of several years standing have been liquidated this fall.

Improvement economic conditions and the banking department's determination to push prosecutions of alleged violators of banking laws have materially reduced the number of state bank failures, the commissioner said.

LEGAL HEADS TO VISIT IN STATE

Oil Fields to be Visited by Attorneys General in Oklahoma

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—Legal department heads of 12 states commence today a week's tour of Oklahoma, during which they will visit virtually all of the leading oil fields, refinery centers and principal cities of the state. George F. Short, attorney general of Oklahoma, host to the visiting attorneys general is in charge of the party. In addition to Short and several prominent Oklahomans, outside state officials, E. B. Hughes and Joe Cobb, members of the state corporation commission will accompany the attorneys general.

The party which assembled here this morning will visit the University of Oklahoma at Norman before lunch. Herman L. Ekren, attorney general of Wisconsin, is scheduled to deliver an address at a special chapel arranged by Dr. James Buchanan, president of the University. This afternoon the attorneys general will visit the conservation department of the state corporation commission and will be shown how the state keeps check on all oil and gas operations. Tonight Mr. Short will entertain with an informal dinner at a country club. Tuesday morning the party will go to Ponca City where they will be shown through the adjacent oil fields and refineries there. In the evening the chamber of commerce will entertain with a civic dinner.

Wednesday will find the party at Pawhuska for a day's tour through the Osage oil fields, among the richest in the United States. Pawhuska civic clubs will entertain the visitors. On Thursday Bartlesville will be host to the legal heads and on Friday the party will be in Muskogee for a visit to the Muskogee free state fair. Saturday they will spend in Tulsa, looking over the extensive refineries and oil plants in that city. Here also they will be entertained by civic club. The party will disband Saturday night several of the visitors boarding trains at Tulsa for their homes. Some have expressed a desire to return to Oklahoma City for a few days, Short said.

The trip is intended to give the visitors an insight into Oklahoma's leading industry, the Oklahoma attorney general said. No business of the national association of attorneys general will be transacted and no formal discussion of the recent gasoline probes in several of the states represented by members of the party will be held he added. Mr. Short is secretary-treasurer of the national organization and a member of the executive committee.

"It simply is an informal party, arranged to give Oklahoma an opportunity to play host to some of the leading legal enforcement officers in the United States," Mr. Short declared.

Farm Column

I have always contended that a hustler can do as well in Pontotoc county as anywhere else, and a recent visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Neal in Portland Park bore out my contention. They started four or five years ago with a capital of $20. They now own lots with a frontage of 200 feet and have some others leased. On this they are making a splendid success with fruits, vegetables and berries. This year there has been a good demand for tomatoes and they have been able to supply a large trade with as good a quality as can be found anywhere. Their fruit trees are only three years old, but they grew quite a nice crop this year and Mrs. Neal's shelves are well stocked for the winter with canned stuff. They also realized good money from the sale of strawberries. Besides their truck patch they keep a cow and some good hogs, more than enough to supply their needs. Mr. Neal has a new way of raising strawberries. He lets the crab grass grow with the berries. This protects them he claims and helps to carry them through the hot weather when the sun usually scorches the plants to death. In the second year he tops the grass and the berries are by that time more than able to hold their own. The quantity he picked last spring is evidence that his method will work. Mr. Neal works on the railroad but that takes only eight hours of a day and the rest of the time he puts in to good advantage on his place. At the present rate it will not be much longer until he is forced to enlarge his grounds. Another thing about the truck patch that I was about to overlook. He raised a fine crop of cabbage on some leased lots in the spring and now there is good second crop of small firm heads on the stalks from which he cut the first ones.

Winners at the county fair who have not received their checks will find them at the First National bank of Ada.

Here's Beauty and the Beast With Proportions

Of all the 572 women who travel with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus, Jennie Rooney is the fairest. And among the thousand and more wild animals "Big Bill," the armored rhinoceros easily takes the prize for homeliness. The two form a study in contrasts.

Because of her winsomeness Miss Rooney has been selected to impersonate "Cinderella" in the gorgeous fairyland pageant with the Greatest Show on Earth. "Bill" on his part, lords it over the thousand animals of the menagerie. The two have but one thing in common. The girl is twenty-four, and as near as animal experts can figure that is Bill's age.

Were the rhinoceros able to speak, he would no doubt "point with pride" to his long line of ancestors. For they, under the name of "Titanotheres" and the "Triastratops" trod the earth nearly forty

UNEMPLOYMENT IS SETBACK TO ECONOMIC CONDITION IN UNITED STATES, REPORT SAYS

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Average good and bad years, 10 to 12 percent of all the workers in the United States, several millions of men and women, are out of work all of the time, and widespread unemployment is now a constant phenomenon with far-reaching economic, social, psychological and moral bearings. These are some of the facts brought out in the introduction to the report of a five-year study of employment methods, needs, and agencies made public here today by the Russell Sage Foundation.

In seeking work through certain types of commercial or free-charging employment bureaus, particularly those dealing with unskilled and casual labor, thousands of men and women are being exploited, and public employment bureaus or exchanges can make a material contribution toward the solution of this and other phases of the ever-recurring problem of unemployment, the report continues.

It is made clear in the report that the figures on unemployment, while representing the average of the country's experience during the last two decades, are not necessarily indicative of present conditions or of the last year.

The investigation, which extended into more than 70 cities in 31 states and Canada, has just been completed. The full report, covering more than 600 printed pages, will be issued shortly. The survey was conducted by a staff of trained field investigators, all of whom had previously been engaged in employment work, under the direction of Shelby M. Harrison, director of the Foundation's Department of Surveys and Exhibits.

Practically every known means for bringing work and the worker million years ago. Scientists consider him and John Daniel, the gorilla, the most interesting of living animals. "Big Bill" is valued at $50,000 and makes his home in an electric lighted den in the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey menagerie, and, aside from eating upward of a bale of hay a day, has nothing to do but sleep.

Jennie Rooney is decidedly proud of her forebears. They have long been stars of the circus world. The oldest of circus literature is sprinkled with the Rooney name. Splendid riders and intrepid aerialists have borne it. And though, because of her beauty and grace she has been selected for the character of "Cinderella" Jennie Rooney is herself regarded as the greatest lady tramp-reveller of this generation. She with more than 800 men and women acrobatic stars will be here with the big combined circus next Saturday afternoon and night.

Together was studied. The "want ad" pages of newspapers, the free-charging labor agencies, the free public employment office, the labor union's method of securing work for its members, the fraternal order's activities in this field, the practice of applying for work at the factory gate or the office door, all were investigated. The report points out the advantages and disadvantages to employer and employee in each of these means and its effect on the general employment situation.

A special study was made of the situation in Ohio, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, and New York, where there has been the greatest development of organized public employment work. Separate studies were made also of the special problems of farm labor, migratory and casual workers, junior workers, handicapped workers, immigrants, negro workers, and professional workers.

After citing the fact that each year from 1,000,000 to 6,000,000 persons are out of work for weeks and sometimes for months at a time, the introduction to the Foundation's forthcoming report says:

"There is something which we are just beginning to recognize, a resentment on the part of the workers against an industrial situation in which such insecurity and uncertainty of employment, the knowledge that any day is uncertain and insecure, subject to the fluctuations of economic change, which are responsible for much of our present industrial unrest."

This situation, the report will say, has been aggravated by the fact that the unskilled worker who has sought employment through certain types of labor agencies in many cases has been subjected to such abuses as: Paying a fee and then failing to get a job; being sent to

COTTON GROWERS IN STATE PROSPER

Marketing Organization Shows Profit for 1923 Cotton Crop

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—In the face of apparently overwhelming odds of what cotton buyers and growers agree is the lowest average grade of cotton of any crop produced in Oklahoma, the growers, who organized for orderly marketing were able to sell their 1923 crop at a "fair price," according to C. L. Stealey, general manager of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers association.

Not only were the organized confronted with the handicap of low grades but they also had to contend with a most unfavorable market condition, high prices prevailing early in the season when the crop was not yet pooled and ready for sale, followed by a sudden and economically unexplainable drop of $50 a bale, Stealey said.

The average return, in cash, to members of the cotton association was 26.5 cents per pound, after all deductions for operating expenses had been reduced, the general manager declared.

Cotton growers face the 1924 marketing season more optimistically, Stealey observed. Arrangements for the concentration of the association cotton at Galveston, a firmer footing in the mill centers and liaison with foreign markets, together with Oklahoma's position of second place in estimated production make this year's prospects brighter, he added.

The average grade of association members' cotton last year was 50.5 points off middling, Stealey declared. This compares with the grades in other states having growers associations modeled after the Oklahoma plan, detrimentally to Oklahoma, he said. Other states checked, show 80 points off middling; 76 points off; 31.9 points off; 29.6 points off; 10.3 points off; 1 point on and 6.1 points above.

Oklahoma is under an added disadvantage in any comparison of net returns and operating costs in that its freight rates are heavier than in any other cotton producing state, Stealey declared. It also is farther from the markets than others of the cotton producing states, any of them having market centers within their state lines.

distant points where no work or where unsatisfactory work exists but where he could not return because of the expense involved; being employed through collusion between the agent and employer and after a few days work being discharged to make way for a new workman while the agent and employer divided the fee.

The report itself says: "On conclusion drawn from such findings has been that we must have public bureaus to take the place of the private fee-charging agencies. That is, in so far as people are informed on the question and have expressed their sentiments, most of them appeared convinced that we should have public employment bureaus, because of the abuses of some free-charging agencies, quite regardless of other considerations. In addition, however, the feeling has been growing that this service in the nature of the case should be free, and that the very fact of fee-charging carries with it a dangerous temptation to abuse and fraud."

"It is obvious, of course, that if the public exchanges could by legislation or court action secure exclusive sway in the whole field, the free-charging agencies with the abuses attributed to them would be bound to disappear. And such a plan, aimed to abolish these agencies, particularly those dealing with unskilled, semi-skilled, casual, and other non-professional workers, is what some advocates of the public exchanges would adopt. There is, however, serious question whether action of that kind, if it were possible, would be wise. The mere abolition of a thing does not always help the situation. That is only negative. It is more important to build up a good constructive competing organization. The abolition alone of the private fee-charging agencies would not necessarily bring about a system of public employment bureaus nor an efficient system. With all their abuses the private agencies are performing a function needed in the absence of an adequate public system, they should not be abolished until something is provided to take their place.

"It would seem far more practical to set to work on a positive program of improving the public bureaus, for if we get a good public service, the free-charging agencies and their abuses will then become a minor question. The private agency will be eliminated because experience gained in the public bureaus."

PICTURES OF BATTLE FRONTS GIVEN LEGION

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—An interesting collection of pictures of the battlefields of France, presented to the American legion of Oklahoma by Dr. W. H. McMillan of Lone Oak, are among the war relics in the legion museum of the capitol. There are 12 panels in all. They are 14 inches by 30 inches in size.

Dr. McMillan who was in charge of one of the advanced dressing stations during the last phase of the battle of the Argonne, also presented to the museum a Red Cross flag which flew over the station. It has several bullet holes through it.

Immediately after the war Dr. McMillan began collecting pictures of battle fields and it was from this collection he took the set of 12 which he gave to the Oklahoma department museum. Dr. McMillan is one of the oldest legionnaires in the state. He is 65.

The pictures are: Verdun from the citadel; Montfaucon, stormed by the 35th division; Etrun, northeast of Verdun; St. Mihiel; the Meuse; Thiaucourt in St. Mihiel sector; Seicheprey, scene of the first American battle, April 20, 1918; Belleau woods and Asnes in the Argonne, showing Hill 304.
